STAFF RECOMMENDATION: Approval, as submitted. ZTA 07-02 clarifies that the development standards of the 1928 Zoning Ordinance, and not the standards of the 1930 reenacted version, apply to single-family houses on lots recorded before 1928.

SUMMARY

The Board of Appeals has based decisions on both the 1928 ordinance and the 1930 ordinance. The interpretation of the Department of Permitting Services is that the 1928 ordinance controls development on lots recorded before 1928. The Circuit Court in the Duffy case resolved the issue in a manner that contradicts the interpretation of DPS. ZTA 07-02 will declare the intent of the Council to property owners, the Circuit Court, the Board of Appeals, and the Department of Permitting Services that single-family houses on lots recorded before 1928 must meet the requirements in the 1928 Zoning Ordinance, not the 1930 reenacted version (that included amendments). This is accomplished by codifying the 1928 ordinance as an attachment to Section 59-B. The legislative history that demonstrates the need for this ZTA is described below.

BACKGROUND

Legislative History

• On March 6, 1928 the Board of County Commissioners of Montgomery County adopted the County's first zoning ordinance. The 1928 Zoning Ordinance declared that houses could only be constructed on recorded lots 5,000 square feet or greater in size with a 50-foot lot width. Existing lots with a street frontage of 40 feet or less were permitted a minimum side yard setback of five feet instead of the standard seven foot requirement.¹

• Although the adoption of the 1928 ordinance is recorded in the journal of County Commissioners, the text of the ordinance was not published in the journal of the Commissioners.

• On March 6, 1930 the County Commissioners repealed the 1928 Zoning Ordinance and reenacted the ordinance with amendments. Under the 1930 Zoning Ordinance a house could be built on a lot less than 5,000 square feet in size if the lot had more than 40 feet but less than 50 feet of street frontage. The buildable lot that could be less than 5,000 feet could also have a five-foot minimum side yard setback instead of a seven-foot side yard setback.²

• Although the adoption of the 1930 Zoning Ordinance is recorded in the journal of County Commissioners, the text of the ordinance was not published in the journal of the Commissioners.

• On July 21, 1932 the County Commissioners recognized that neither the 1928 Ordinance nor the 1930 Ordinance was published in the Commissioners' journal. This oversight was corrected. The Commissioners reaffirmed the action of March 6, 1928, by “approving, adopting, and establishing” the 1928 Zoning Ordinance in 1932. The reaffirmation of the 1928 Ordinance in 1932 was not considered by the Board of Appeals and the Circuit Court in the history cited below.

¹ Section III (C)(1): “Each dwelling hereafter erected or altered in this zone shall occupy a lot with a minimum area of five thousand (5,000) square feet and a minimum width of fifty (50) feet at the front building line. No lot area shall be so reduced or diminished that the yards or open space shall be smaller than prescribed by this ordinance.”
Section VIII (3). “In the case of a lot or parcel of land having a width of forty (40) feet or less, and which is included in a plat of record at the time of the passage of this ordinance, there shall be a side yard on each side of a dwelling of not less than five (5) feet in width.”

² Section III C (1): “Each dwelling hereafter erected in this zone shall occupy a lot with a minimum area of five thousand (5,000) square feet and minimum width of fifty (50) feet at the front building line, except as provided in Section VIII, 3. No lot area shall be so reduced or diminished that the yards or open spaces shall be smaller than prescribed by this ordinance.”
Section VIII (3): “In the case of a lot or parcel of land having a width of at least forty (40) feet but less than fifty (50) feet, and which is included in a plat or deed of record at the time of adoption of this ordinance, there shall be a side yard on each side of a dwelling of not less than five (5) feet in width and the provisions of Section III, C, 1, shall not apply to such lot or parcel.”
• In 1990, the County Council adopted Zoning Text Amendment 9-002 allowing lots recorded before March 16, 1928 to be developed according to the standards established in the 1928 Zoning Ordinance.3

> Section 59-B-5.3(a): a lot recorded before March 16, 1928, in the original Maryland-Washington Metropolitan District, must meet the development standards in the 1928 Zoning Ordinance...

• In May 2004 the Department of Permitting Services (DPS) issued an interpretation to reaffirm that the 1928 Ordinance referred to in §59-B-5.3(a) means the ordinance adopted in 1928 and not the ordinance adopted in 1930.

Selected Case History at the Board of Appeals and Circuit Court

• The practical application and confusion of the 1928 Zoning Ordinance and the 1930 Zoning Ordinance is evident in the Board of Appeals' opinions. On September 14, 1998 the Board of Appeals granted a variance to John and Alice Waksunski, allowing them to build on their lot. Their lot was less than 5,000 square feet but was a buildable lot if the 1930 ordinance applied. The dispute in the case was whether the Department of Permitting Services (DPS) committed an administrative error by not granting a building permit for a lot that was less than 5,000 square feet. The Board of Appeals found, “...the introductory language of the later ordinance, which ‘repeals and reenacts’ the 1928 Zoning Ordinance, effectively eliminated the 1928 Ordinance and left the 1930 Ordinance in its stead.” The Board applied the 1930 Ordinance and granted the administrative appeal to allow the Waksunskis to construct a house.

• On August 29, 2006 the Board of Appeals decided the Duffy case by applying the 1928 Zoning Ordinance, not the 1930 Ordinance. A principal issue for the Board of Appeals was the side setback standard: Does the Duffy lot qualify for a five-foot side setback? The Dwffys' house was set back five feet from the side yard. The Board of Appeals stated that the 1928 Zoning Ordinance is clear; the five-foot side yard applies only when the lot has a street frontage of 40 feet or less. The Duffs's street frontage was 42.5 feet; therefore, the lot did not fit within the exception. The Board of Appeals did not grant a variance from the side yard setback standard.

• The Duffy decision was appealed to the Circuit Court. The Duffs argued that the 1930 Zoning Ordinance should apply, just as the Board of Appeals applied that Zoning Ordinance in the Waksuninski case. The Court agreed that the

3 The ZTA in 1990 was the first time the 1928 Zoning Ordinance was mentioned in the current Zoning Ordinance.
Board of Appeals applied the wrong law. Under the 1930 Zoning Ordinance, the minimum setback for the Duffys' lot is five feet. Under the Court's order, a variance was unnecessary.

The Board of Appeals has based its decisions on both the 1928 ordinance and the 1930 ordinance. DPS resolved the ambiguity of which ordinance applied by issuing its own interpretation (interpretation states that the 1928 ordinance governs). The Circuit Court has resolved the issue in a manner that contradicts the interpretation of DPS. All parties are attempting to determine the intent of the Council. This ZTA provides the opportunity for the Council to express that intent for cases that arise in the future.

Generally, there are thousands of lots presently zoned R-60 or R-90 (the current zoning for most small lots in the County) that were platted prior to 1928. To obtain specific details (number of lots, lot widths, etc.) would entail researching each plat book (100+ plats per book) and each plat (dozens to hundreds of lots per plat), since there is currently no GIS information based on properties platted prior to 1928 or based on the width of street frontage.

GIS provided information on the number of R-60 and R-90 properties that are less than 5,000 square feet. Currently there are 16,097 (13.7% of total number of R-60 and R-90 properties) R-60 and R-90 lots less than 5,000 square feet in the County (There are a total of 116,655 R-60 and R-90 lots in the County). Again, we currently have no detailed information on the street frontage widths although generally, we know that thousands of lots in the down-county areas that are zoned R-60 and R-90 were originally recorded with 20-foot widths. In any case, the proposed ZTA would provide a clearer determination of the intent of Section 59-B-5.3(a).
