

Bernadette Hanlon is a research analyst at the Center for Urban Environmental Research and Education (CUERE) at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County (UMBC). She has a Ph.D. in Public Policy from the University of Maryland, Baltimore County. Her research interests include suburban growth and decline, urban policy and planning, and state and local government. Her latest work appears in Urban Geography, the International Journal of Urban and Regional Research and Urban Studies. She is currently writing a book on inner-ring suburbs for Temple University Press.